

NRATH
- 1730
UE ERA

JOHANN SEBASTIAN
1685 -
BAROQUE

BIOGRAPHY

Bartholomäus was born into a family of musicians, but his early life was not without hardship. He was orphaned at a young age and spent his childhood in a orphanage. He later became a member of the St. Thomas Church in Leipzig, where he studied and worked as an organist and teacher. He played the organ for many years and composed several works for this role. He also taught music at the St. Thomas School. In 1706, he married Anna Barbara, the daughter of a wealthy merchant. He continued to work as an organist and teacher, but his health began to decline. He died in 1750, leaving behind a large body of work, including many of the most famous chorales in the Lutheran repertoire.

FUN FACTS

- He was a very busy man, composing over 1,000 works, including many of the most famous chorales in the Lutheran repertoire.
- He was a very devout man, and his faith was a central part of his life.
- He was a very popular man, and his music was loved by many people.
- He was a very hardworking man, and he spent many hours composing and teaching.
- He was a very generous man, and he gave away many of his works to the poor.
- He was a very kind man, and he was always ready to help others.
- He was a very brave man, and he was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs.
- He was a very wise man, and he had many interesting ideas.
- He was a very funny man, and he was always making people laugh.
- He was a very handsome man, and he was very popular with the women.

WORKS & RECORDS

- St. Matthew's Passion
- The Well-Tempered Clavier

RECORDING